

About us

In Memory of Daisy Duke

We are a dedicated group of animal lovers who want to see the suffering of animals stop. We are trying to get the facts about animal abuse and how the laws in Canada need to be changed badly and how the statistically proven link between people abusers and animal abusers and how every last serial killer has a background of animal abuse.

We follow animal abuse cases and have delegates at every court case to be the voice for these animals. We are trying to get the governments attention on how important it is to bring in bill c-373 which will cover all the loop holes in the animal abuse laws. This will enable the judges to give these animal abusers the punishments that they deserve.

We also bring the companionship and friendship of animals to people that have special needs someone to love unconditionally. With the help of their caregivers and our volunteers.

We are working on ways to get puppy mills shut down. We are educating children about how to treat animals and that there is no excuse for abuse and that animals have emotions and feeling just as you and I.

Our Mission

Our Mission is to promote stiffer penalties against animal abusers which in turn assists in the rescue of abused animals. We also want to bring to the government's attention that there is a proven statistical link between animal abusers and serial killers.

WE AS A FOUNDATION ARE FIGHTING FOR THE GOVERNMENT TO PUT IN BILL C-373 INSTEAD OF BILL S-203 SINCE THE OUTDATED LAWS HAVE NOT BEEN CHANGED SINCE THE 1800'S AND BILL S-203 IS JUST AN UPDATED VERSION OF THE SAME BILL AND DOES NOT CHANGE THE EFFECTS ON INHUMANE SUFFERING OVER A HUNDRED YEARS LATER. WE ARE TRYING TO SPREAD THE AWARENESS TO THE PUBLIC OF THE STATISTICALLY PROVEN LINK BETWEEN SERIAL KILLERS AND ANIMAL ABUSERS AND THAT ALMOST ALWAYS ANIMAL ABUSERS TURN INTO PEOPLE ABUSERS.

ACT NOW IN SUPPORT OF GOOD ANIMAL CRUELTY LEGISLATION!

Canadians must speak out to stop the passage of Ineffective, outdated animal cruelty legislation from being passed in our House of Commons.

BILL S-203

Bill S-203 is a private member's bill in the Senate. It has passed the Senate, passed Second Reading in the House and is awaiting debate by the Justice and Human Rights Committee, likely this fall. Bill S-203 makes NO changes to today's archaic and wholly inadequate offences; it will only increase the penalties. Increased penalties are important, but ultimately meaningless when the offences are so problematic that many cases can't even be prosecuted. Bill S-203:

- makes it difficult to prosecute cases of neglect, even when dozens of animals have been starved to death
- allows the training of animals for dog fights, cockfights or other types of animal fighting
- permits killing stray or wild animals for no particular reason
- provides extra protection for cattle and other animals and less protection for stray or wild animals
- doesn't make it a crime to kill animals brutally or viciously
- considers animal cruelty a property offence
- doesn't offer specific protection for law enforcement animals

BILL C-373

Bill C-373, a private member's bill in the House, would fix all of the above problems, as well as increase the penalties. This bill is virtually identical to one that came excruciatingly close to being passed in 2003 when it was supported unanimously in the House of Commons. That bill was also supported by a huge number of animal use industries representing farmers, trappers and scientific researchers, as well as veterinarians, police associations and animal protection groups. Unfortunately, the Senate stood in the way of that bill and then it died when Parliament dissolved.
